With greater utilization of technology and ever changing personal preferences, the interactions between consumers (members) and financial institutions (credit unions) have changed. Credit Unions pride themselves on personal service and competitively priced products. As a future consumer of financial products and services, what is important to you? How do you feel you will handle your finances differently than your parent's generation? How do you feel credit unions should adapt to meet the future generation's needs and demands?

PLEASE RETURN YOUR APPLICATION AND ESSAY TO EITHER
